1. Selectively Reveal Your Weaknesses. By selectively showing a weakness (being irritable on Monday morning, being somewhat disorganized, etc.) a leader can connect by demonstrating that he is just like you—imperfect. This builds trust and authenticity.

Why Should Anyone Be Led By You? | Everett Community College

Why should anyone be led by you? This is the seminal question for all leaders. People arrive at a position of leadership in many different ways – some individuals openly and aggressively seek out positions of leadership, while leadership is thrust upon others. Whether leaders are elected, appointed, anointed, or self-proclaimed, and regardless of whether it is by design or default, once in a position of leadership they nonetheless carry the burden and responsibilities associated with being ...

Why should anyone be led by you - slideshare.net

According to the authors, people want to be led not by a person with a fancy job title or a manager who has amassed a vast chunk of organisational power or territory. Employees will choose to follow only a real, live, genuine human being who reveals some of their humanity, values, personality, and even vulnerability.

Book Review: Why Should Anyone Be Led by You? - Integral ...

If leadership is a dynamic relationship, and the appropriate balance of closeness and distance keeps changing to fit new circumstances, it is logical that followers, too, live in the same dynamic relationship, but see things from a different perspective. If the leaders get the balance right, followers feel comfortable.
